New Post Incentives

We announced last week the new incentives approved by National Commander Reistad for this year to encourage posts to go after and renew 2014, 2015 and 2016 expired members and bring them back on to post rosters. A letter was mailed out last week to departments explaining these incentives. Another letter will be mailed to the district and county commander this week and then posts. Below is one of the email blasts that is being sent out today helping to get the word out.

Here are a few questions that have been asked since the original email was sent out last week.
• Is the post $5 incentive retroactive to July 1st? The award was announced on 11/28. That is the start date for the post incentive.
• Departments don’t have the ability to access the full expires list. Will this be available? IT has finished updating the department access and should have full access.
• Why is 2017 expires not included? The 2017 expired members are still receiving renewal notices to renew at the post. There will still be members who renew their membership just from the renewal notice. The 2014, 2015 and 2016 do not receive the renewal notice. They will receive a DMS mailing. By engaging these members the hope is they will renew at the local post.
• Is it required to pay back past dues or just 2019? The ultimate goal is to renew these members for 2019. After they agree to renew for 2019, if the post wants to try and get past dues paid they are more than welcome to do so.

Recruit and receive ‘Membership Excellence: Team 100’ pin

American Legion National Commander Brett Reistad will award his national commander "Membership Excellence: Team 100" incentive pin to any Legion Family member who obtains three new members into The American Legion.

A new member is any eligible person joining for the 2019 membership year who was not a member of The American Legion during the 2018 membership year. Each member listed must be eligible for membership in The American Legion. Forward names of Sons of The American Legion members or Auxiliary members to your detachment or unit for use in their respective incentive programs.

Only one pin will be awarded per individual. Upon receipt, national membership staff will confirm the names and mail the pin directly to the person who earned it. Reistad’s pin incentive program will end June 30, 2019, or when supplies are exhausted.

Download the incentive pin form at www.legion.org/commander/pin.
Every Legionnaire is aware of the colors of our organization. Not all the colors are used on all American Legion products. However there are a few that exhibit all the colors, such as The American Legion Ribbon, the RIBAR, the Legion School Award Ribbon and the 30 inch Neck Ribbon.

If anyone knows the meaning or significance of the color scheme adopted by our founding members or if you would like to know the answer, just drop me an email at AKAN01@CENTURYLINK.NET and I will let you know.

I am still waiting for the Holiday lull in places to be and things to do as The Department Commander. It has not, as yet, happened. No complaints, as I am thoroughly enjoying representing and promoting The Department.

Since the last Newsletter I have represented the Department at the awarding of three French Legion of Honor medals to WW II Veterans at the "M" Hotel and Casino. Participated in a Conference Call with Western National Vice Commander Jim Pisa and Commanders or Adjutants from the other 14 Departments in the Western Region. I have been involved in three Color Guard presentations. Attended the District 2 meeting at Post 60 in Laughlin. I attended the State Commanders meeting at the VA Hospital in North Las Vegas. The services for unattended Veterans at The Southern Nevada Veterans Memorial Cemetery on Thursday mornings are still one of my priorities. Unpacking, sorting and repacking Christmas stocking (boxes) to be sent overseas to our troops was a most enjoyable experience, working with the Blue Star Mothers and the Patriot Guard, several of whom are also members of The Legion.

The most difficult time was being asked to speak at a WW II Veteran's funeral ceremony at the Veterans Memorial Cemetery in Boulder City. He was a member of Post 76 and a true hero who jumped on D-Day and then again in operation Market Garden.

Only 2 Posts have begun to work on their CPR reports online, Post 12 and Post 76.

The Department of Nevada and I wish all of you a very Happy and Joyous Holiday Season and a Happy and Healthy New Year to you and yours.

Joel M. Forman
Department Commander
A Different Christmas Poem

The embers glowed softly, and in their dim light,
I gazed round the room and I cherished the sight.
My wife was asleep, her head on my chest,
My daughter beside me, angelic in rest.
Outside the snow fell, a blanket of white,
Transforming the yard to a winter delight.

Outside the snow fell, a blanket of white,
Transforming the yard to a winter delight.

The sparkling lights in the tree I believe,
Completed the magic that was Christmas Eve.
My eyelids were heavy, my breathing was deep,
Secure and surrounded by love I would sleep.
In perfect contentment, or so it would seem,
So I slumbered, perhaps I started to dream.

The sound wasn’t loud, and it wasn’t too near,
But I opened my eyes when it tickled my ear.
Perhaps just a cough, I didn’t quite know, Then the sure sound of footsteps outside in the snow.
My soul gave a tremble, I struggled to hear,
And I crept to the door just to see who was near.

Standing out in the cold and the dark of the night,
A lone figure stood, his face weary and tight.
A soldier, I puzzled, some twenty years old,
Perhaps a Marine, huddled here in the cold.
Alone in the dark, he looked up and smiled,
Standing watch over me, and my wife and my child.

"What are you doing?" I asked without fear,
"Come in this moment, it’s freezing out here!
Put down your pack, brush the snow from your sleeve,
You should be at home on a cold Christmas Eve!"

My dad stood his watch in the jungles of ’Nam’,
And now it is my turn and so, here I am.
I’ve not seen my own son in more than a while,
But my wife sends me pictures, he’s sure got her smile."
Then he bent and he carefully pulled from his bag,
The red, white, and blue... an American flag.
"I can live through the cold and the being alone,
Away from my family, my house and my home.
I can stand at my post through the rain and the sleet,
I can sleep in a foxhole with little to eat.
I can carry the weight of killing another,
Or lay down my life with my sister and brother..
Who stand at the front against any and all,
To ensure for all time that this flag will not fall."

"So go back inside," he said, "harbor no fright,
Your family is waiting and I’ll be all right."
"But isn’t there something I can do, at the least,
"Give you money," I asked, "or prepare you a feast?
It seems all too little for all that you’ve done,
For being away from your wife and your son."

Then his eye welled a tear that held no regret,
"Just tell us you love us, and never forget.
To fight for our rights back at home while we’re gone,
To stand your own watch, no matter how long.
For when we come home, either standing or dead,
Is payment enough, and with that we will trust,
That we mattered to you as you mattered to us."

PLEASE, would you do me the kind favor of sending this to as many people as you can? Christmas will be coming soon and some credit is due to our U.S service men and women for our being able to celebrate these festivities. Let’s try in this small way to pay a tiny bit of what we owe. Make people stop and think of our heroes, living and dead, who sacrificed themselves for us.

WE LOST A FRIEND

As we journey through life, people periodically pop into our lives who bring a new meaning to friend, mentor, counselor, or confidant. Agnes Williams (Aggie to many of her friends) was to many of us in The American Legion family of Nevada one of those shining stars. Always there for anyone needing a helping hand or a word of encouragement, Agnes never stepped backwards. She came to you without reservations; and was always there to support any and all.

Born in Omaha, Nebraska, Agnes migrated to southern California in 1940 after her parents died. In 1943, when at a dance, she met a sailor; and true to her nature of getting things right the first time she married Harold Williams three days later. Their marriage spanned 67 years.

During the war years Agnes worked at the Army Supply Depot in Maywood, CA. After the war and while raising her children she worked first as caterer and then as an assistant cook at the Cal Poly Conference Center. She, Harold and the children moved to Bullhead City, AZ upon retiring. It was there that they got involved with The American Legion. They were part of the initial cadre that were responsible for the chartering of Legion Post 60 in Laughlin. Agnes was the first president of Unit 60; and remained a member of this unit until her death on November 22.

To recount her activities with Post 60 and the Auxiliary would require a book of many pages. Agnes participated in every facet of The American Legion. She climbed all the chairs which culminated with her becoming the Department President. She served at the Post in many capacities. You could find her in the kitchen cooking and serving Post member, preparing and distributing the Post newsletter, attending meetings, organizing fund raisers, mentoring new members, or just being a friend to someone in need. Service to her Legion Family and her community was her life.

In 2003 Agnes and Harold moved to Carson City, due to Harold’s failing health. However, Agnes’ involvement with the Legion never changed. She continued to be a mentor to the ladies at Unit 60, wrote emails of encouragement to those she knew who were involved with the daily activities of Post 60, and made it a point to scold those who were not quite up to her standards.

On November 22 Aggie, at 94, decided it was time to join her Harold. She left this world a better place for you and I to live. For those of us who knew her, she will always remain a friend and a guiding light as we meander through life. We will miss her; and when we follow in her footsteps into the unknown, I know she will be waiting for us with a cookie and a spot of tea. Aggie, Rest in Peace, and thank you for being part of our lives.
I was thinking about our nation, it's history, and how we must protect and be able to pass along to the future generations, how we got to be the free and democratic country we are.

As I have witnessed and also been told by parents and teachers alike, that our young people are not being taught American History, flag etiquette, respect for others and some things which are a part of our history are not even taught because they are said to be not proper any longer. Most of us are of the generations from the end of the Second World War, Korean War, Vietnam War, The Persian Gulf War, 9/11, and the Global War on terror. Those are still very fresh in our minds. I'm talking about from the beginnings of our country to the end of World War II. This History is being missed or bypassed.

Just a few of these things that are a part of our neglected taught history are, “Give me Liberty or give me death” (1775, Patrick Henry), “Oh say can you see..” The Star Spangled Banner is our own National Anthem composed at Fort McHenry in 1814 by Francis Scott Key, during the War of 1812, “Four score and seven years ago” The Gettysburg Address by Abraham Lincoln, 1864, The Civil War, “Over There, The Yanks are Coming” song title by George M. Cohan, 1917, WWI, “December 7th, 1941, a date which will live in infamy” Speech given to Congress by President Roosevelt after the Pearl Harbor attack. This list does not even scratch the surface of the history of our Nation. There is so much to learn and it has been put on the back burners by our negligence. We must try again to instill in our young people what this country is about, most are good, some are not but still our history.

I remember my Drill Sergeant in basic training told our platoon, look at that tag on your fatigues, it say's U.S. ARMY. That first part says US. US, all together that is how we will stand tall for our platoon, and for your buddy standing next to you. Those words could never be more meaningful when we see how divided we have become. Lets change it, we are all Americans and when the hard times come, I would not want to be on any other side than ours.

I want to wish you all a Very Happy Holiday Season, stay safe and God Bless our American Legion Family and God Bless America.

National Legislative Council Rebuild

With the elections now over, it is time to begin the process of rebuilding The American Legion National Legislative Council for the 116th Congress. Here's a short summary of the process. If any member is interested in being a Council member for the following open positions please let me know: (Ron Michalski @ ronan1025@aol.com)

Senator Cortez Masto                Senator Jackie Rosen
Congress Woman Susie Lee     Congressman Steven Harsford

BACKGROUND: The National Legislative Council (NLC) is composed of a general membership appointed by the National Commander upon the recommendations of the Departments of The American Legion. The formation of the NLC begins shortly after the General Elections every two years. The NLC Chairman sends the Department Adjutants a memo advising them of the need to identify potential Council Members for the next Congress. The Department’s National Executive Committeeman submits the Department’s recommendations to the National Commander via email to the National Legislative Division in Washington DC. Once the names are submitted, the National Commander makes the appointment notifications via letter.

These members of The American Legion should have a one-on-one relationship with their Members of Congress and their staffs, or can be counted on to build one. They should also be available to travel to Washington, D.C. for the Washington Conference/Commander’s Testimony if called upon.

LESSON OF THE GEESE

The American Legion is an Organization founded on teamwork and support. You have probably all heard the expression “Dumb As a Goose”. Actually that’s an expression not validated by fact. Geese know and practice teamwork and support routinely. It’s pure instinct for a goose to know what to do. Every fall thousands of geese fly from Canada to the southern part of the United States to escape the bitterly cold Canadian winter. As soon as a flock of geese take flight from Canadian waters they quickly form a v-shape flying pattern, with one Goose in the center lead and all the other geese trailing behind in two close lines. Wildlife scientists have conducted extensive studies to determine why geese and other migratory birds always fly in a distinctive V-formation. They found some fascinating results.

When geese fly together, each goose provides additional lift and reduces air resistance for the goose flying behind it. Consequently, by flying together in a v-formation, scientists estimate that the whole flock can fly about 70% farther with the same amount of energy than if each goose flew alone. Geese have discovered that they can reach their destination more quickly and with less energy expended when they fly together in formation. When people work together harmoniously on teams, sharing common values and a common destination, they all arrive at our goal quicker and easier, because they are lifted up by the energy and enthusiasm of one another.

When a goose drops out of the v-formation it quickly discovers that it requires a great deal more effort and energy to fly. Consequently, that goose will quickly return to the formation to take advantage of the lifting power that comes from flying together. Sometimes people playing on teams will drop out of the group and try to accomplish goals on their own. However, like the geese, they usually discover that they miss the synergy and energy that comes when they are an active part of a cohesive team moving toward their destination, and want to return to the group.

Geese rotate leadership. Since the goose flying in the front of the formation has to expend the most energy because it is the first to break up the flow of air that provides the additional lift for all of the geese who follow behind the leader. Consequently, when the lead goose gets tired, it drops out of the front position and moves to the rear of the formation, where the resistance is lightest, and another goose moves to the leadership position. This rotation of position happens many times in the course of the long journey to warmer climates. When a team is functioning well, various members of the team may take the leadership role for a while because of a particular expertise or experience. Consequently, on good teams, everyone has the opportunity to serve as a leader as well as a follower.

Geese honk at each other. They also frequently make loud honking sounds as they fly together. Scientists speculate that this honking is their way of communicating with each other during their long flight. Similarly, when working on teams, it is exceedingly important for each team member to communicate regularly with all the other team members. Teams frequently fall apart because of the lack of adequate communication among the various members of the team. Perhaps human teams can learn from flying flocks of geese that constant communication among members is exceedingly important in moving effectively towards a common destination.

MEMBERSHIP, The Story of the Geese (continued)

Geese help each other. Scientists also discovered that when one goose becomes ill, is shot or injured, and drops out of the formation, two other geese will fall out of formation and remain with the weakened goose. They will stay with and protect the injured goose from predators until it is able to fly again or dies. Likewise, human teams work best when they do more than just work together, but care for the well being of the organization and each other.

This being said you can understand why we need to apply these lessons to the success of our organization at the Post, District and Department levels. Each and every Legionnaire needs to keep honking in support of our membership goals and our four pillars. Legion members need to support their Posts, the Posts need to support their District and the Districts need to support Department goals and objectives. We need to ask more of ourselves and each other as well as “JUST ASK” our fellow Veterans to join our great organization. And remember every Veteran offers not only the potential for a new member for the Legion but also the possibility of an Auxiliary or SAL member as well.

A good soldier never quits.

Endorsed by Your Department of the American Legion

You’ve done a good job. You’ve served America during the times when freedom and liberty were threatened. You’ve served when the bulwarks of defense needed to be fortified to preserve peace. You were there. But America needs you still. Your American Legion Department supports worthwhile national and local community causes. It looks after your interests by championing your case in Congress. It supports your efforts to get involved in the running of America. It offers affordable insurance to over 1,700,000 Legionnaires nationwide.

You’re entitled to the best for what you’ve done for your country. Renew your Legion membership promptly when you receive your dues notice, and you can activate your No-Cost-To-You Accidental Death Insurance Offer when it’s mailed to you in August. Remember to pay your dues early. That way you can activate your No-Cost insurance at www.TheLIT.com. The Legionnaire Insurance Trust continues to serve your country by uniting us together for the benefit of one and all. We’re inspired by the community of veterans still serving in America. For over 50 years, the Legionnaire Insurance Trust has been delivering peace of mind and financial support for veterans, their families, and the Departments of The American Legion.

We craft benefit programs that help veterans protect what they value most.

The American Legion Family
